Opportunity to Address the Academic Senate
a. Open Educational Resources (OER) Grant (Rosenthal)
https://extranet.ccco.edu/Divisions/AcademicAffairs/OpenEducationResources.aspx
Rosenthal announced we have an opportunity to apply for the Open Educational Resources (OER) which is a Zero-Textbook Cost Degree Grant Program. There are two phases to this grant. The first phase is the “planning grant”. This is free money with no obligation to explore our options, which allows us to bring in people to train and provide stipends for faculty. It does not mean we have to implement the degree and faculty will not be required to use the OER. However, if we are interested in pursuing, we need to get enough participants (one person from each section) in order to qualify for the second grant. The “implementation grant” is the second phase. The maximum award amount is up to $35,000. The deadline for the planning grant is December 12.

This information was previously announced in the ASCCC Plenary Delegate Report, which was sent by way of the Senate list serve. It was posted on the Senate website on 11/9/2016.

Catalog Re-design Task Force

Purpose: The Bakersfield College catalog is a tool which guides students through the educational process toward the achievement of their educational goals. The catalog is packed with information, subject to Accreditation, Ed Code and Title 5 requirements. The information should be clear, uncomplicated, and student friendly leading to a consistent interpretation of the content for each student’s educational pathway. Additionally, the catalog should be readily accessible with essential information prioritized for the student. Consistent with Bakersfield College’s processes of continuous assessment, evaluation, and improvement, coupled with the desire to serve our specific student population, we have determined that the catalog design should be updated. The goal of this re-design is to improve the clarity of the catalog content as well as create an online catalog that will enhance the delivery of accurate, detailed information. The Curriculum Committee of Bakersfield College has approved the convening of this task force to facilitate the re-design of the college catalog. Amendment to 11/30/2016 Academic Senate Minutes:

Open Educational Resource (OER) Grant (Rosenthal)
On November 9, the academic senate was presented with a summary of information I obtained from the Fall Plenary. One of the issues specifically asked if BC would be interested in applying for an Open Education Resource (OER) planning grant. I included links to the grant and OER websites, and contact information.

Since that time I have been contacting faculty on campus and have learned many faculty already use OER, many are willing to explore the idea, and Sarah Baron reported she had positive feedback when she presented at Flex Week.

I would like the opportunity to present some information in order to clear up any misconceptions.

1) This is a planning grant. It is used for professional development, etc. I am not asking for a vote on applying for the implementation grant.
2) No faculty or staff member is obligated to participate in the planning, training, or utilization of OER.
3) OER does NOT mean online. Most OER give the students the option of online access, downloading pdf, or buying the text.
4) OER is NOT just for online courses. It can be used in face-to-face courses.
5) The website cool4ed.org does not list the only OER and what it does list leads to other OER resources.
6) Instructors that come to training are not obligated to use any OER, or they may use it for half of their material. (I currently use half OER and half non-OER.)
Even if I fail and I am not able to develop an entire degree pathway using OER, I feel the training will benefit those of us that are interested, and hopefully interest a few more faculty so we may lessen the financial burden on our students. Please feel free to contact me if you have questions.

The link to the grant is:

The document can be found in the middle of the website near the top:

*Planning grants are designed to provide colleges with resources to plan for the development of a Zero-Textbook-Cost Degree. These funds are to assist colleges with research, professional development, meetings, coordination, and other resources and activities that are required to organize and discuss the components of adapting/creating these degrees and/or certificates.
